

ERASMUS+ INTERNATIONAL CREDIT MOBILITY PROGRAMME
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF MOBILITY 2020
Australia, China, Ethiopia, Israel, Kenya, Lebanon, Palestine, Philippines and Tunisia

Since its origins, Pompeu Fabra University (UPF) has woven cooperation ties with universities in Europe and worldwide, and it has encouraged the mobility of students and staff, forging its profile as a global university with an international community on campus.

By studying and teaching abroad both students and lecturers improve their linguistic, cultural and training skills, building an open-minded and qualified community of junior and senior professionals. Moreover, inbound and outbound mobility actively contribute to pluralism and multiculturalism in academia and in campus life.

UPF has lately diversified its international presence by promoting cooperation with the Mediterranean region, Asia-Pacific and Africa by raising funds to foster international mobility through the Erasmus+ awarded project 2020-1-ES01-KA107-081617.

Given that the competence to award grants and scholarships to students and staff participating in exchange programmes falls (by delegation of powers in accordance to Article 6 in the UPF Rector's order of May 24th, 2017) under the responsibility of the Vice-rector for internationalization projects, Maria Isabel Valverde Zaragoza, she resolves to open the following Erasmus+ call for applications, which will be published on the UPF International website, and she approves the following general and specific guidelines.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

1. Purpose of the Call

The main purpose of the call is:

- To offer training, research and study development opportunities to staff and students at the participating universities.
- To support students and staff achieve sustained improvements in knowledge, teaching, research and professional skills.
- To forge and deepen lasting links between UPF and partner universities, thus enhancing transnational academic cooperation.
- To improve participants' language and culture skills, promoting mutual enrichment and understanding.

2. Participating higher education institutions and number of available grants

Please see the Annexes for the country-specific information.

3. General conditions

The call is open to all subject areas, with priorities identified by country. Applicants must check that the requested mobility proposal matches the offer available at the host university.

The mobility grant consists of a travel budget and a monthly/daily subsistence allowance, according to the rates set by the Erasmus+ Programme. The grant is a contribution towards the costs of the planned Erasmus+ mobility period.

3.1 Duration of mobility

The mobility of students should last at least 3 months and up to 5 months, as stated in the country specific annexes. The number of grants announced in the annex is a minimum that will be awarded. If selected students' stays are shorter, additional scholarships may be generated or extensions in initially granted months may be possible, according to budget availability.

The mobility of staff is for a maximum of 5 days (plus 2 days for travel), so that 7 days will be funded by the grant.

Mobilities announced in this call should be carried out in 2020-21, 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 during the period of academic activity at the host university and should end before 31 July 2023.

3.2 Types of mobility

Undergraduate and master students are expected to pursue courses for credit recognition in their programme of studies.

Doctoral candidates are expected to engage in research for their doctoral thesis.

Staff mobility can be for teaching, training or both. Teaching and administrative staff can apply, but priority will be given to the former. While mobility for teaching implies a commitment to deliver at least 8 hours of teaching, mobility for training is rather focused on participation in professional development activities such as training events (excluding conferences), job shadowing, observation periods or training at the host institution. Mobility can also combine teaching and training, with a minimum of 4 hours of teaching per week.

4. Eligibility requisites

To be eligible, applicants must fulfil the following conditions:

1. [Staff mobility] to be employed and have a contractual relationship with their home university at the time of the application and during the whole mobility period.
[Student Mobility] to be a student enrolled at their home university at the time of the application and during the whole mobility period.

2. If the planned mobility activities are conducted in a language that is not the native language of the applicant, to have an appropriate level of any of the working languages in order to conduct teaching, research or to take courses.
3. To submit a (Teaching/Training/Learning) Mobility Agreement proposal, approved by the proper academic authorities and duly signed.
4. To submit all the required documents before the application deadline.

Since preparing and getting a mobility agreement signed takes time, applicants are strongly advised to start preparing their application as early as possible.

The fulfilment of these requirements will be verified by UPF in coordination with the applicants' home universities.

5. Application

This call and the application form can be found on the UPF International website. Partner universities will refer to it by publishing an announcement.

6. Selection and awarding decision

The assessment will follow the standards of the “European Peer Review Guide”, by the European Science Foundation:

Qualitative assessment	Numeric score

Very good	4
Good	3
Fair	2
Poor	1

Applicants below a B general score will be considered candidates on the reserve list and may be offered a scholarship in following rounds if they improve their mobility proposal.

If two or more applications are of similar quality, the tie-break decision will be guided by:

- favouring applicants from disadvantaged backgrounds, according to the information provided by partner institutions,
- seeking gender balance,
- prioritizing those who have not yet been beneficiaries of Erasmus+ mobility grants.

The awarding decision will be published on the UPF website and duly informed to applicants and their home universities. If selected applicants outnumber available scholarships, UPF will keep them on a waiting list to offer them a grant in case there is a drop out.

Grants will be allocated within the limits of budget availability. UPF reserves the right to consider candidates on the reserve list as Erasmus+ grantees with no financial aid, entitling them to the same rights and duties as funded grantees.

The Selection Committee, chaired by the Vice-rector for internationalization projects, will gather an academic representative appointed by the Director of those departments involved at UPF. The Committee will be assisted by a member of the International Relations Service and shall decide on the award of the scholarships.
