

SCHOLARSHIP FOR COLLABORATION: ASSISTANT / TECHNICIAN

The "Multisensory Research Group" Research Group (MRG) of the Center for Brain and Cognition of the Pompeu Fabra University requires a place for part-time collaboration scholarships

Title job offer

Research Assistant

Job Summary

We are looking for a person to provide research support for the study of music and concentration. In this study we are going to test the ability of music generated by the mobile phone application to increase performance in sustained attention task.

Task for the research assistant will consist of helping in software development and building simple setups for experiments, database maintenance, update and recruitment of experimental subjects, group web maintenance and update, assistance in collecting and analyzing of experimental data, support in administrative and organizational tasks.

Requirements:

- Programming skills (Matlab)
- Knowledge of English
- Organization, responsibility and neatness

It will be valued:

- UPF students of the latest undergraduate or master's degree courses (Higher Polytechnic School, Faculty of Health and Life Sciences ...)
- Knowledge in signal processing

Conditions:

- Dedication: 25 hours / week.
- Schedule: to be agreed.
- 6 month contract (renewable).
- Salary: 875 per month.
- Incorporation: January

Selection process:

Those interested should send a short presentation letter and CV to the following email address: applications.MRGLab@gmail.com, indicating the reference "Collaboration scholarship 2019".

After reviewing the CVs, in a second phase, some of the candidates will pass to the personal interview phase.

For more information, contact Daria Kvasova or Salvador Soto-Faraco and / or consult the web of our research group (<http://www.mrg.upf.edu>) or the laboratory (www.upf.edu/web/cbclab).