1. Research path and achievements

BRIEF RESEARCH PATHS:

Throughout my entire career I have been working three main fields within migration studies: Borders and Human Mobility: Transnational Diaspora and Entrepreneurship – Externalization of EU migration policies, Intra-EU mobility and EU citizenship - Ethics of migration and human security /// Diversity and Citizenship: Intercultural citizenship – Cultural Policies - Multiple and intersectional diversity, Political Parties - Multi-level governance, Urban Governance - Policy narratives and Xenophobic political discourses /// Methodology in Migration Studies: Qualitative and Conceptual Research, Research Ethics. I am now working an edited book entitle How to do Migration Research (contract signed with Edward-Elgard publishing), with contributors from Canada, United States Europe and Australia

FOCUSED RESEARCH LINE: I identify myself as an inter-disciplinary scholar specialising in migration studies, with a particular focus on urban governance and the Mediterranean area, who methodologically combines empirical and normative analysis (applied political theory). In recent years and with the critical aim of bypassing hegemonic nation-based methodological approaches, I have embraced the “local turn” in migration studies, which implies multi-scalar thinking of migration governance. The basic impact involves both an epistemological and a political turn, and engages many disciplines and areas of expertise, including political geography, international relations, sociology, and urban politics.

Within these lines of inquiry, I have framed inter-related avenues of research: the place of interculturalism as a city approach to diversity governance, the place of Mediterranean cities within the Euro-Mediterranean agenda and how cities contribute to decentralising migration governance in the Mediterranean. Previously, I promoted the Routledge Handbook on the Governance of Migration and Diversity in Cities (2019). More recently, I am exploring a new avenue of research that brings urban politics into conversation with migration governance and shaping this research framework within the category of urban resilience. This has been the central activity during my Distinguished Visiting Award at the Graduate Center CUNY (January–June 2022); enabling me to critically engage with American literature, and comparative analysis. My research findings and international collaborations (in Europe, North America and the Mediterranean area) have led to my current concern for linking urban studies and migration studies, which is becoming a pressing issue.

CURRENT RESEARCH KEYWORDS

Cities, Diversity, Governance, Interculturalism, Mediterranean, Migration, Urban Politics.

SUPERVISION OF PhD STUDENTS AND POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWS

2008 – 2020 Supervised 8 PhD/ 4 Marie Curie, 5 Spanish Postdocs/currently 2 PhD students

1 Marie Curie supervised awarded ERC-CoG and he is still in my research group, tenure track (John Palmer)

1 Marie Curie supervised awarded with H2020 this year and still work in my research group (Zenja Hellgren)

RESEARCH FUNDRAISING (SUMMARY)

6 National Plan, partner over 11 European and international projects (FP6, FP7, H2020), +10 agreements with (inter)national institutions (Open Society Found., IOM, Unesco, Council Europe, Bertelsmann Found., European Scientific Found., Obra Social “La Caixa”, Anna Lindh Euro-Mediterranean Foundation).

SELECTED POLICY ACHIEVEMENTS

- Participating since 2008 in the development Intercultural Index-Council of Europe
- I founded in 2011 the Intercultural Cities network in Spain as the first one within the Intercultural Cities Program - Council of Europe.
- As an Expert I contribute to incorporating Mediterranean City relations into the Anna Lindh Foundation agenda (Alexandria, Egypt – EuroMed cultural basket).

- As one of the three members belonging to the Scientific Committee of the Baku Process (hosted by Government Republic of Azerbaijan) since 2017 I contribute to promoting Global and Regional Intercultural Dialogue.

SELECTED KEYNOTE LECTURES (PAST THREE YEARS)

- (2022) Lecture on Urban Migration Governance Capacities, Asfari Institute for Civil Society and Citizenship, American University Beirut, Lebanon, December 6th.
- (2022) Lecture: Urban migration governance from an urban resilience lens: some conceptual, methodological and comparative empirical insights”, Advanced Research Collaborative Seminars, Graduate Center, The City University of New York (CUNY), May 12th
- (2020) Two lectures: “Intercultural cities and intercultural citizenship” and “Mediterranean Thinking in Migration Studies” Master of Public Administration, Trondheim Business School, Norwegian University of Science & Technology, 12th February.
- (2019) Plenary Session: “Migrants as pioneers of Europe? How intercultural policies can help to reboot European identity”, APPAM (Association for Public Policy Analysis and management) International Congress organized by John Hopkins University, Barcelona, 30th August.
- (2019) Closing Keynote: Ethical practices in conducting qualitative migration research, PhD Summer School (13th June). Association for Migration Research, Istanbul.

PROMOTER *EuroMedMig

In July 2018 a Euro-Mediterranean Research Migration Network was launched during the IMISCOE Annual Conference in Barcelona (2-4 July, with +700 participants), chaired by R. Zapata-Barrero. Composition of 19 Members in the Steering Committee. Countries covered are: Albania, Algeria, Belgium, Egypt, Europe (EUI), Greece, Israel, Italy, Jordan, France Lebanon, Morocco, Palestine, Portugal, Spain, Norway, Netherlands, Tunisia, Turkey. EuroMedMig is recognized as an IMISCOE regional Network and has the institutional support of the Union for the Mediterranean. It is granted as Jean Monnet Network for the coming three years (2019-2022). <http://cort.as/-QUyK>. A book on Migration in the Mediterranean has been accepted and the contract signed in Springer. 25 contributions from all over the Mediterranean. A Symposium on Mediterranean Cities and Migration Governance will be held in November 2022.

CURRENT RESEARCH INTERESTS

- 1) Develop a new Research Program on Urban Migration Governance Capacities. I was awarded an Advanced Research Collaborative (ARC) Distinguished Visiting Scholarship at The Graduate Center of The City University of New York (CUNY) for six months (January-June 2022) under the main topic: Urban Resilience and Urban Migration Governance. Now I will begin a project BROAD-ER (“Bridging the Migration and Urban Studies Nexus”) awarded under the call HORIZON-WIDERA-2021-ACCESS-03 (Twinning). Apart from GRITIM-UPF, it includes two more partners: Universiteit van Amsterdam (Netherlands) and Koç University (Turkey)
- 2) Further elaborate on the paradigm of intercultural citizenship, but with more emphasis on the proximity urban governance it implies. I am now interested in exploring how the national and regional / social and political context may influence implementation and outcomes. Also, I work on a pluralistic view of diversity politics and complementarities of different normative policy paradigms, especially multiculturalism (state level) and interculturalism (local level), cosmopolitanism and transnationalism.
- 3) The Mediterranean region is a context of growing connections between cities (networks of cities, external relations and diplomatic partnerships, cities and civil society organizations working in the Mediterranean) that I am exploring, promoting south/east/north comparisons.

2. The 10 most relevant scientific publications

The selection follows the criteria of showing precedents for the main categories of analysis, methodologies and research areas that I am still working. Some are recently published pilot studies showing the potentialities of the category of urban resilience and its impacts, research on multi-level governance, qualitative methodology, urban local governance, trans-national migration, conceptual thinking and Mediterranean migration research (including fieldwork in Tunisia and Morocco) and intercultural policies.

1. (Art.) (2023) “Urban migration governance under the resilience lens: conceptual and empirical insights”, Ethnic and Racial Studies Q1, SJR 0,97

This article serves a dual purpose: exploring how urban resilience literature can pave the way for research into urban migration governance, and how urban migration governance can contribute to the existing discourse on urban resilience. It presents findings from my recent studies in three very different urban regimes: Barcelona, Marseille, and Tunisian cities, testing an ideal-type Weberian methodology. This publication sets the premises of my current research program.

2. (Art.) (2022) “New scales of migration governance in the Mediterranean: Regional cities in the spotlight”, European Urban and Regional Studies, 1–14 Q1 ISJR 1.62

This is a first dissemination of my research on how Mediterranean cities can shape new forms of region-making and how this can represent a shift in migration governance towards a more decentralized Mediterranean migration governance. It is one of the findings of my 3-year (2019–2022) Jean Monnet Network Project (Reference: 611260-EPP-1-2019-1-ES-EPPJMO-NETWORK) entitled ‘Mapping European Mediterranean Migration Studies’ (Acronym: EUMedMi).

3. (co-edited Book) (2021) Contested Concepts in Migration Studies, London: Routledge. (eds.: Zapata-Barrero, R; Jacobs, D. and Kastoryano, R.) Sense Ranking: B SPI: 3/24 Political Science.

- Zapata-Barrero, R; Jacobs, D. and Kastoryano, R. (2021). "Introduction: Conceptual thinking in migration studies"; pp. 1-27 and "Cohesion: Beyond the diversity threatening hypothesis"; pp. 45-60.

During my stay as ARC Distinguished Visiting Scholar at the Graduate Center CUNY, we organized a Book Talk on May 18, 2022. John Mollenkopf did a review and a discussion followed with American and European scholars on the importance to articulate conceptual thinking in migration studies. A Book Symposium for Ethnic and Racial Studies [2023 Vol46 (8)] followed, with the participation of scholars from different regions of the world. Contributions include: John Mollenkopf will review critically the book, Reactions: Dirk Jacobs (co-editor), R. Zapata-Barrero (co-editor), from MiddleEast and Asian Perspective: Laavanya Kathiravelu (Nanyang Technological University, Singapore), from Indian and Asian perspective: Sheetal Sharma (Jawaharlal Nehru University), from North African and Arab perspective: Ibrahim Awad (American University El Cairo). My short contribution: "Tightening the conceptual lens in migration research: towards a geography of concepts and a Weberian digression"

4. (Special Issue) (2019) and Edited Book (2022) Diaspora Governance and Transnational Entrepreneurship: The Rise of an Emerging Social Global Pattern in Migration Studies (Guest Editors: R. Zapata-Barrero and S. Rezaei). Ethnic and Migration Studies 46 (10) Q1, SJR 1,48

This Special Issue is a direct outcome of findings in the framework of the European Project: Diasporalink Transnational Diaspora Entrepreneurship as a Development Link between Home and Residence (2014–2019, H2020-MSCA-RISE-2014), a 4 year project (2015–2019) in collaboration with 25 research institutions in the EU, Americas, Asia and Africa. We have combined scholars from migration studies and business studies, from four continents.

Within this special issue I have written:

- “Guest Editorial: Diaspora governance and transnational entrepreneurship: the rise of an emerging social global class” pp. 1959-1973 (with S. Rezaei)
- “Harnessing the potential of Moroccans living abroad through diaspora policies? Assessing the factors of success and failure of a new structure of opportunities for Transnational Entrepreneurs”, pp. 2027-2044 (with Z. Hellgren)

This Special Issue has become an edited 2022 Book (Routledge Research in Ethnic and Migration Studies - ISBN: 978-1-032-04953-3) Sense Ranking: B SPI: 3/24 Political Science

5. (Edited Book) (2018) Qualitative Research in European Migration Studies (edited with Evren Yalaz) (Amsterdam: Springer – IMISCOE Research Series)

Free access: it was published in July 2018. March 2023, it reached more than 313k downloads and 160 Citations. It has been translated into Turkish by the Association for Migration Research (GAR). The Turkish version is also open-access and can be reached GAR's website

I have written:

- "Introduction: Preparing the Way for Qualitative Research in Migration Studies", Chap. 1, 1-8 (with E. Yalaz):
- "Mapping the Qualitative Migration Research in Europe: An Exploratory Analysis", Chap. 2, 9-31 (with E. Yalaz)
- "Applied Political Theory and Qualitative Research in Migration Studies", Chap. 5, 75-92

6. (Art) (2017) “Interculturalism in the post-multicultural debate: A defence”, Comparative Migration Studies, 5 (14) (25 pages) Q1, SJR SJR 0.92*

This is a Key article of a Special Issue on Multiculturalism and Interculturalism, Guest Editors: Patrick Loobuyck and François Levrau.

The publisher promoted this Special Issue requesting a key article on my research on Interculturalism, since I am introducing this paradigm with diversity and migration studies (see my cv and my last book in Sage where I collect all my contributions). The publisher also invited T. Modood to do the same for the paradigm Multiculturalism. We then received several critical views within the same issue by leading scholars (R. Kastoryano, C. Joppke, F. Boucher, J. Maclure, F. Levrau, S. Oosterlynck) and I wrote also a reply to the critics: (2018) “Rejoinder: multiculturalism and interculturalism: alongside but separate”, Comparative Migration Studies, 6 (20), (12 pages)

7. (Art) (2017) “How do political parties deal with the ‘diversity gap’: democratic deficits and party strategies”, Ethnic and Racial Studies, Vol. 40, Issue 5; 766-786. [Book 2018: Chap. 2;16-36] Q1 SJR 1,03*

(Special issue) (Book edited) (2018) Immigrant Incorporation in Political Parties: Exploring the Diversity Gap, R. Zapata-Barrero, I. Dähnke and L. Markard (eds.) in Ethnic and Racial Studies, Vol. 40, Issue 5. April 2017

[Routledge has selected the Special Issue to publish it as a hardback book in 2018 (9781138069688 pub: 2017-08-22) as part of the Routledge Ethnic and Racial Studies book series]. This Special Issue (and edited book) is the outcome of a project funded by the European Fund for the Integration of Third-Country Nationals: DIVPOL – Diversity in Political Parties’ Programmes, Organisation and Representation (2013-2014).

Routledge Sense Ranking: B SPI 3/24 Political Science

I have also written:

- “Introduction: Background, framework and focus of the special issue”; 751-765 (with L. Markand and I. Dähnke) [Book 2018; 1-15]
- “From participation to confinement: Challenges for immigrants’ incorporation in political parties in Spain”; 830-850 (with F. Burchianti) [Book 2018: Chap. 4; 80-100]

8. (Art.) (2017) “Theorizing the ‘local turn’ in a multi-level governance framework of analysis. A case study in immigrant policies”, 83 (2) ; 241-246 (with T. Caponio and P. Scholten) Q1, SJR 0,9*

Symposium on Theorizing 'the local turn' in the governance of immigrant policies: a multi-level approach. Guest Editors: Ricard Zapata-Barrero, Tiziana Caponio and Peter Scholten, International Review of Administrative Sciences (IRAS), Volume 83 (2) June. This Special Issue is a direct dissemination of Workshops organised within the IMISCOE Standing Group on Multilevel Governance we coordinate, with the purpose of promoting local and multi-level research in migration studies.

I have also written: "Intercultural policy and Multi-level intercultural governance in Barcelona: mainstreaming comprehensive approach"; 247-266

French version can be found: Revue Internationale de Sciences Administratives (2017/2, Vol. 83)

9. (Book) (2014) The Politics of Immigration in Multi-level States: Governance and Political Parties (co-edited with E. Hepburn), Houndmills, Basingstoke: Palgrave/MacMillan.

This book is a direct outcome of two Workshops organized by R. Zapata-Barrero and E. Hepburn (Council for European Studies, Barcelona June 2011 and European Consortium for Political Research, Reykjavik August 2011). This book develops an exploratory theory of immigration in multilevel states addressing two themes: governance and political parties. It examines not only how, and by whom, immigration policy is decided and implemented at different levels, but also how it has become a key-issue of party competition across multilevel states.

I have written:

- Introduction (with E. Hepburn): Introduction: Immigration Policies in Multilevel States.
- Multilevel Governance of Immigration in Multinational States: 'Who Governs?' Reconsidered. Conceptual chapter with F. Barker.
- 'Catalunya, terra d'acollida': Stateless Nationalist Party Discourses on Immigration in Catalonia. Ch. with N. Franco.
- Conclusion: Exploring the Contours of a Theory of Immigration in Multilevel States. Conclusions with E. Hepburn

10. (Book) (2006) Multiculturalism, Muslims and Citizenship: A European Approach (London: Routledge), co-edited with T. Modood y A. Triandafyllidou.

This book incorporated religion and Islam as a specific multicultural European distinctive feature.

I have written:

- Introduction: "European Challenges to multicultural citizenship: Muslims, secularism and beyond" (with T. Modood and A. Triandafyllidou); 1-22.
- "The Muslim community and Spanish tradition: Mauophobia as a fact and impartiality as a desideratum"; Ch. 8: 143-161.
