

Find some interesting activities organized by cultural institutions that you can join online. Enjoy!

Thursday, Feb 4th	Sunday, Feb 7th	Tuesday, Feb 9

Algorithmic Sound 5: Matthew D. Gantt Matthew D. Gantt is an artist, composer and educator based between NYC and Troy, NY. His practice focuses on sound in virtual spaces, generative systems facilitated by idiosyncratic technology, and digital production presets as sonic readymades. Gantt releases music with Orange Milk and Oxtail Recordings, and has taught experimental composition at both institutional and DIY spaces, including NYC non-profit/public media studio Harvestworks, CUNY Brooklyn, Bard College, Sarah Lawrence, and a variety of community workshops aimed at creating equitable access to developing technologies.	Valentine's Chocolate Donuts - Free Workshop Join me and learn how to make this super easy recipe. Chocolate donuts baked with a cakey texture, soft and of course delicious. Dipped in chocolate with some sprinkle of your choice, those donuts will be just the perfect gift for your loved one! Get your free ticket to receive the recipe before the workshop. Note: It will no longer be possible to request the recipe once the registration is closed. Level: beginner	Entrepreneurship Rocks! Music as an Entrepreneurial Venture The music industry is rarely top of mind in discussions of entrepreneurship and innovation, but musicians are indeed prime examples of entrepreneurs among us. Students studying music should be equipped with entrepreneurial skills to build a career in this dynamic and ever-changing field. This panel session will explore the concept of music as an entrepreneurial venture. Greg Harris from the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame will kick off the discussion, describing the role of entrepreneurship in the music industry and highlighting famous examples of entrepreneurial musicians

Ongoing activities through the term
 Movement is the Key Change your life Tai Chi Basics Sunday mornings	 29a MOSTRA INTERNACIONAL FILMS DE DONES BARCELONA
Begin your Tai Chi journey: An introduction to essential Tai Chi skills (Feb 8th and more dates)	Mostra films de dones (A partir de l'11 de febrer)	Invitadas. Fragmentos sobre mujeres, ideología y artes plásticas en España (1833-1931)
Movement is the key to maintaining mental and physical health. This series teaches basis Tai Chi skills as posting, walking, breathing, and hand movements. Even outwardly simple movement when practiced correctly promote organ health, lower body strength and mental focus.	La Mostra Internacional de Films de Dones de Barcelona té com a objectiu la promoció del cinema dirigit per dones, visibilitzant la cultura audiovisual femenina i projectant filmografies de directores d'arreu del món, evidenciant d'aquesta manera la importància de la contribució de les dones en el desenvolupament de la creació audiovisual. estimulen la creació audiovisual i de noves genealogies entre les dones.	La exposició "Invitadas" muestra un recorrido por la situación de la mujer en el sistema del arte español a través de algunas de las obras menos conocidas de la colección del Prado de los siglos XIX y principios del XX y de un pequeño pero significativo grupo de préstamos de otras instituciones. Enmarcada en un periodo cronológico que va desde los tiempos de Rosario Weiss (1814-1843) hasta los de Elena Brockmann (1867-1946), la exposición se ordena en dos partes articuladas a su vez en distintos fragmentos temáticos.
Enjoy learning at home through our lessons on Zoom.		