

Course title: Art and Gender in Contemporary Spain*Language of instruction: EnglishProfessor: Eloy Fernández Porta, Ph.D.Professor's contact and office hours: eloi.fernandez-porta@upf.eduCourse contact hours: 45Recommended credit: 6 ECTS creditsCourse prerequisites: There are no prerequisites for this courseLanguage requirements: Recommended level in the European Framework B2 (or equivalent : Cambridge Certificate if the teaching language is English, DELE or 3 semesters in the case of Spanish)Course focus and approach: This is a course that emphasizes gender perspectives in regards to contemporary visual culture. We will be looking at recent -and contemporary classic- artworks through "purple glasses", thus combining feminist traditions with masculinity studies.Course description: This course provides a dynamic, multi-disciplinary introduction to Contemporary Art in Spain. A background on this specified field is not required. For this reason not only the main artistic events will be covered, but also some political, historical and cultural issues that might be relevant. Although this course is mainly based on lectures and class debate, four visits to art centers and exhibitions will be also part of the course requirements. These visits will be made during class time and are equivalent to a usual in-class lecture. We will discuss recent classics as well as emerging artists, and we will cover a wide range of artistic practices, from photography to afterpop music, including installation art, performance art and comic art. Although the course offers several relevant clues to understand the historical context and particular conditions in Spain, it is also intended as a more general insight into contemporary artistic strategies and topics.Learning objectives: At the end of the course students will be able to identify and discuss some of the masterworks and most important currents of change-of-the-century culture in Spain. They will also be capable to understand and relate to key notions regarding visual and media culture. They will develop a contemporary artistic sensibility, and they will acquire several notions and ideas that will be useful for them in order to understand and analyze globalized pop culture. Significant analogies between peninsular artistic production and North American art will be frequent.Course workload: Students will be required to read articles and/or book chapters on a daily basis. The articles in question will serve as a basis for class discussion and they will offer the conceptual framework for every session of the course. There will also be two tests (Midterm and Final); each exam will cover 50% of the course. Students will also be asked to write two papers and give a presentation about a Spanish artist of their choice. The paper will be presented to the class in a 10-minute, collective Pwp, in which students will collaborate in groups of 2 to 4, with other students whose papers deal with related issues.

Teaching methodology: Every session will begin with a group of two students giving a short, 7-minutes summary of required reading. Thursday’s sessions will consist on a guided field trip to a local art center, gallery or museum. Proper indications will be given in advance. Part of the session will be lecture-based, but participation and debate is required. When going on a field trip students will be asked to comment and discuss the artworks on display. Papers will be based on field trip materials and informations.

Assessment criteria:

Class participation: 15%

Paper: 15%

Midterm Exam: 25%
