Course focus and approach:

This is a course focus on raising awareness about (un)sustainability with a practical approach to system thinking. The course invites students to explore their authentic leadership through hands-on experience from deep ecology to entrepreneurship with the aim to build their own smart solutions.

Course description: The course is designed in 3 areas: Open mind, open heart, open will in order to allow the student to explore its personal journey towards sustainability.

. Open mind (Explore) consists on rising awareness about the unprecedented challenges we facing today. At that point of the course, students have created a sense of common language and a common vision about global and systemic challenges.

. Open heart (Experience) is a real appreciative inquiry about its leadership style. At that point of the course, we create a sense of community learning.

. Open will (Expedition) is when we introduce and put in action the leadership style as well as the system thinking. At that point of the course, we clarify the purpose of the Leadership journey and everyone revisits his/her career sweet spot.

Learning objectives:

- Co-build a shared vision about the state of the earth and the systemic challenges we are facing today
- Challenge the business as-usual to foresee a genuine alternative leadership style
- Explore new business and smart cities model driven by leaders engaged in organization as a force for good.
- Experiment a hands-on format all along the course as well as deep ecology dynamics to explore new way of learning.
- Embody the whole journey in concrete reflections and actions.

Course workload:

- Weekly assignments including lectures and readings
- 1 Working group
- 1 Team project
- Weekly Social network Research - Breaking GOOD News
- 1 mid exam and final exam
- High participation in class as we have numerous groups dynamics

Teaching methodology:

Through this course, we will use different methodology to thrive the overall experience. With lectures, self-reflective exercises, story telling, visioning and dreaming, dialogue walk, journaling and creative practices this course is an invitation for an emerging journey of self-exploration to enhance our new mindset.

Assessment criteria:

- Class Participation: 40% (Including individual and group assignment)
- Mid Term and Final Exam: 20%
- Active Learning Project: 40%

BaPIS absence policy
