

Date of publication of the job offer 03 December

Job title Dry Lab Technician

Job description

The study of pleiotropic relationships in GWAS data, with focus on longevity and fertility-related traits.

Project and Institution that finance the contract:

Plan Estatal de Investigación Científica y Técnica y de Innovación 2017-2020

Official number reference: PGC2018-101927-B-I00

Information on the minimum requirements

Candidates should:

- Hold a BSs on life-sciences.
- Hold a MSc on bioinformatics or computational biology.
- Have background in computational methods for the analysis of human genomics and/or comparative genomics data.
- Be proficient in Shell scripting, Python programming language or similar.
- Have excellent communication and writing skills in English.
- Be able to work collaboratively and with a high degree of autonomy.

Benefits of the opening

The candidate will receive an annually gross of 16.638,84€.

Information on the application process

Deadline to submit applications: 22 december 2021

Contact : admin_bioevo@upf.edu