

Universitat
Pompeu Fabra
Barcelona

Departament
de Ciències Experimentals
i de la Salut

"Una manera de hacer Europa"

Date of publication of the job offer: 20th July 2017

Job title: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Job description

We are seeking a post-doc to work with human genome data in an evolutionary perspective. The candidate will work in a new Project (whole genomes and SNP arrays) with data from hunter-gatherer populations with demographic and natural selection in sets of genomes from other populations.

Project and Institution that finance the contract

Ministerio de Economía y competitividad (MINECO). Cofunded by FEDER , UE. Universitat Pompeu Fabra.

Official number reference

MINECO- BFU2016-77961-P(AEI/FEDER/UE cofunded by FEDER, UE).

Information on the minimum requirements

Applicants should have a PhD. Degree, with research experience in computational genomics related to evolution. As well as a strong genome bioinformatics skills to handle DNA sequence data and program in R, python or similar. Expertise in population genomics and NGS is necessary.

Benefits of the opening

It's offered a gross salary up to 30.000,00€ depending on expertise, during the project's life.

Information on the application process : els candidats els evaluarà en Jaume Bertranpetit I Hafid Laayouni

Deadline to submit applications: 3rd August 2017

Contact : hafid.laayouni@upf.edu// jaume.bertranpetit@upf.edu