

Journalism

within the crisis

Location: Sala de Graus
Edifici Tanger, 3rd floor
(room 55.309)
Facultat de Comunicació, UPF
Street: Roc Boronat, 138, BCN

May 3, 2013

Organizing:

THE EUROMEDIA
RESEARCH
GROUP

UAB

Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona
Departament de Mitjans, Comunicació i Cultura

upf.

Universitat
Pompeu Fabra
Barcelona

Departament
de Comunicació

Universitat de Lleida
Departament de Filologia
Catalana i Comunicació

Seminar

Two panel sessions to debate the relation between crisis and journalism in two ways: how journalism is covering the economic and political crisis; and how the crisis is affecting journalism, especially in the public television and press, which are central to the provision and consumption of news in Europe.

15.30h. Welcome and presentation

Josef Trappel, University of Salzburg, Euromedia Research Group
Laura Bergés, Universitat de Lleida, EuroMedia Research Group

15.45h. The coverage of the crisis: economics, politics and journalism

Who determines the discourse about the economic crises?
Núria Almiron, Universitat Pompeu Fabra

Researching on journalism ethics: Journalists' and Citizens' perceptions of the political news coverage, media transparency and accountability

Xavier Ramon Vegas, UPF Research group on journalism ethics

Respondents:

Hannu Nieminen, University of Helsinki
Aukse Balčytienė, Vytautas Magnus University

Debate

17.15h. Coffee break

17.30h. Journalism under the pressures of crisis

The public broadcasting system under pressure
José Joaquín Blasco, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona

Decline of newspapers as informative media: strategies to face the crisis.

David Vidal, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona

Respondents:

Helena Sousa, University of Minho
Barbara Tomass, Ruhr-University Bochum

Debate

19.00h. Coffee. End of session.