PASTRES

(Pastoralism, Uncertainty and Resilience: Global Lessons from the Margins)
What lessons can we learn for global challenges from pastoral systems responding to uncertainty?

PASTRES is a research project which aims to learn from the ways that pastoralists respond to uncertainty, applying such ‘lessons from the margins’ to global challenges. We aim to foster a conversation with other policy domains where uncertainty is pervasive, including financial and commodity systems, critical infrastructure management, disease outbreak response, migration policy, climate change and conflict and security governance. Our three case studies are in pastoral areas of China (Qinghai), Italy (Sardinia) and Kenya (Isiolo). The project is funded by an ERC Advanced Grant hosted by the ESRC STEPS Centre at the Institute of Development Studies, University of Sussex and the European University Institute in Florence.
