WORKING PAPERS

Insult Politics in the Age of Social Media, Job Market Paper

Short Abstract: Offensive rhetoric by politicians boosts engagement and electoral support, revealing incentives for incivility that deepen partisan polarization.

Experience, Narratives, and Climate Change Beliefs (with Milena Djourelouva, Ruben Durante and Eleonora Patacchini), R&R at the Journal of the European Economic Association

Short Abstract: Shared shocks do not generate shared beliefs, as natural disasters heighten climate polarization by activating partisan narratives.

PUBLICATIONS

Media Slant and Public Policy Views (with Milena Djourelouva, Ruben Durante and Eleonora Patacchini). AEA Papers and Proceedings. May 2024.

Short Abstract: Exposure to partisan cable news systematically shifts citizens' policy preferences in the direction of each channel's slant.

WORK IN PROGRESS

Jury Composition and Sentencing Decisions (with Marie Beigelman)

Short Abstract: Exploiting quasi-random jury assignment in French criminal courts, we study how laypeople's social identities affect high-stakes judicial decisions.

Media Bias of Conflict (with Ricardo Baeza-Yates, Marta Reynal-Querol and Federico Scabbia)

Short Abstract: Analyzing 10 million news articles with LLMs, we map the anatomy of global conflict coverage, examining how international ties drive bias and shape downstream economic outcomes.

The road to recovery: The role of poverty in the exposure, vulnerability and resilience to floods in Accra (with A. Erman, S. Hallegatte et al.). Economics of Disasters and Climate Change. Feb 2020.
